PENTHOUSE PLAYPEN

Once the secret hideaway for legendary romancers Clark Gable and Carole Lombard, the aptly named and newly remodeled Gable/Lombard Penthouse at The Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel is ready for modern affairs to remember. Two floors of python skin, dark woods and platinum palettes set the steamy scene for a four-person Jacuzzi with a wet bar, mirrored accent walls and a 1,000-square-foot private roof deck for outside—ahem—activities. 7000 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, 323.466.7000.

WORK UP A LATHER

Whether you're a couple with subtle romantic notions or full-on flirtatious tendencies, the newly renovated, multi-million dollar Sofitel hotel provides a shower that strikes anyone's fancy. Specialty suites feature a 25-square-foot shower (big enough for a ménage à trois—or four, or five) with a giant window looking onto the bedroom that transforms from clear to opaque with the flip of a switch. 8555 Beverly Blvd., L.A., 310.278.5444.

PAGE BURNER

Geoff Nicholson's new book, Sex Collectors, explores the world's most eccentric purveyors of porn, from Roman rulers and modern-day themed offering, Saints & Sinners in Culver City. The winking trip down sensory lane is realized via a '70s-era pornucopia of black vinyl, gold-veined mirrors, orgy-tastic printed wallpaper, and porcelain statues that could have been swiped from strip joint Crazy Girls. 10899 Venice Blvd., Culver City, 310.842.8066.
