HOT SPOT: KOBE CLUB

TALK ABOUT CUTTING EDGE! KOBE CLUB, A NEW luxe steakhouse in NYC, has 2,000 samurai swords suspended from the ceiling as part of its décor. The intimate space — which serves American, Japanese and Australian Wagyu beef ($30–$160) — just opened in December and has already attracted A-listers like Jennifer Lopez (who dined on Dover Sole Meunière, $45) and hubby Marc Anthony (who had Charlie's Sizzling Sliced Steak, $52), Ryan Seacrest and Susan Sarandon.

Why it's hot On Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, the fun starts after midnight when guests can play backgammon and chess while munching on Kobe Philly Cheesesteaks ($28) and other dishes from the late-night menu. Co-owner Jeffrey Chodorow tells Us, "There's no other place where you can enjoy the finest Kobe beef while beating your friends at Monopoly!"
